

TIA Inc

Learning & Development | Partnership to build SaaS training systems

Training is an essential part of growth, and online learning resource systems are hugely beneficial to many businesses. TIA Inc take a multi-disciplinary, best practice approach to delivering training services and solutions.

The Challenge

Connecting users directly with training materials allows you to track progress and measure success in online tests. Many businesses have similar training needs, and TIA Inc had identified an opportunity to deliver training as a service. They came to us for a Cloud-based platform to support this.

We like to innovate, so TIA Inc's vision resonated with us. We rose to the challenge and found the right solution to boost their service offering. We brought the power of Oracle software and the agility of Amazon Web Services to their clients. We worked with them to create a 'Learning as a Service' platform that their customers could deploy within minutes.
